PREFACE

After working diligently for more than twenty years gathering the genealogy of the descendants of Johannes Housshalter, who was one of the early settlers of Maryland and Pennsylvania, and extensive correspondence with persons bearing the name of Householder, Housholder and Haushalter, and with persons interested in genealogical studies, I have succeeded in putting together the data contained in this volume.

Great care has been taken while compiling this work in an effort to be as accurate as possible as well as to present as complete a record as possible from information on hand. Any corrections or additions, either for the early or late generations, will be gratefully received.

This volume has been made possible by the cooperation of many individuals. The value of their efforts cannot be fully and adequately expressed.

I take this opportunity to render my sincere thanks and acknowledgements to all those who have so kindly furnished me with information and statistics. To Mrs Louisa C. Day, Mrs Grace R. Mann, Miss Augusta Householder, Mr Fred W. Householder, Mr William D. Householder, Mrs LeRoy Housholder, Mrs Mary Sipes Zandler, Dr. H. P. Haushalter, Mrs Daniel Iceman, Mr. Wilbur T. Householder, Mr Robert B. Householder, Miss Dorothy Householder, Mrs Katharine W. Householder, Mr James A. Householder and daughter Olive. Mr Andrew T. Householder, Mrs Sylvester Householder, Mr Clarence E. Householder, Mr. Luther M. Housholder, Mr & Mrs Howard S. Housholder, Mrs V. R. Inklebarger, Mrs Melville Householder, Mrs Mae McBee, Mr Christopher C. Householder, Mr Andrew L. Householder, Rev. D. Howard Householder, Mr Ernest W. Householder, Mrs Kathryn M. Householder, Mrs Edward Householder, Miss Doris Irene Householder and many others.

Appreciation is respectively due to Mr Avar R. Rogers for giving freely of his time and talents in typing and mimeographing this work.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO
DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY

1. The first part of the experiment is to determine the concentration of the solution. This is done by measuring the volume of the solution and the mass of the solute. The concentration is then calculated using the formula: $C = \frac{m}{V}$, where C is the concentration, m is the mass, and V is the volume.

2. The second part of the experiment is to determine the molar mass of the solute. This is done by measuring the mass of the solute and the volume of the solution. The molar mass is then calculated using the formula: $M = \frac{m}{n}$, where M is the molar mass, m is the mass, and n is the number of moles.

3. The third part of the experiment is to determine the boiling point of the solution. This is done by measuring the temperature of the solution as it is heated. The boiling point is then determined by the temperature at which the solution begins to boil.

4. The fourth part of the experiment is to determine the freezing point of the solution. This is done by measuring the temperature of the solution as it is cooled. The freezing point is then determined by the temperature at which the solution begins to freeze.

5. The fifth part of the experiment is to determine the density of the solution. This is done by measuring the mass of the solution and the volume of the solution. The density is then calculated using the formula: $D = \frac{m}{V}$, where D is the density, m is the mass, and V is the volume.

6. The sixth part of the experiment is to determine the refractive index of the solution. This is done by measuring the refractive index of the solution using a refractometer.

7. The seventh part of the experiment is to determine the viscosity of the solution. This is done by measuring the viscosity of the solution using a viscometer.

8. The eighth part of the experiment is to determine the surface tension of the solution. This is done by measuring the surface tension of the solution using a surface tension meter.

9. The ninth part of the experiment is to determine the osmotic pressure of the solution. This is done by measuring the osmotic pressure of the solution using an osmometer.

10. The tenth part of the experiment is to determine the colligative properties of the solution. This is done by measuring the boiling point, freezing point, density, refractive index, viscosity, surface tension, and osmotic pressure of the solution.

1. The first of the two main parts of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation

$$f(x) = \sum_{n=0}^{\infty} \frac{a_n}{n!} x^n$$

where a_n are the coefficients of the power series expansion of the function $f(x)$ at the point $x=0$.

2. The second part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation

$$f(x) = \sum_{n=0}^{\infty} \frac{a_n}{n!} x^n$$

where a_n are the coefficients of the power series expansion of the function $f(x)$ at the point $x=0$.

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation

$$f(x) = \sum_{n=0}^{\infty} \frac{a_n}{n!} x^n$$

where a_n are the coefficients of the power series expansion of the function $f(x)$ at the point $x=0$.

4. The fourth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation

$$f(x) = \sum_{n=0}^{\infty} \frac{a_n}{n!} x^n$$

where a_n are the coefficients of the power series expansion of the function $f(x)$ at the point $x=0$.

5. The fifth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation

where a_n are the coefficients of the power series expansion of the function $f(x)$ at the point $x=0$.

- 54 James L. Householder, born 30 May 1927, Seymour, Sevier, Tenn. Mr. Robert B. Householder gives this interesting event about his two half brothers and himself: "My half brother James graduated from free school where I was principal with the highest honors in the school. That same year he won the Sevier County spelling championship. He and I were given a free trip to Nashville to compete in the state wide spelling contest. He was the 7th highest in the state. In high school (Harrison-Chilhowee Institute) he attained the highest honors in the 50 years history of the school, winning all honor medals the school had to offer. Another half brother Erstel Benton, older than James, won highest honors with all the medals. Evelyn Faye Householder, a first cousin of mine, repeated the same the next year. All three received a surprised college scholarship. Congretulations to them all".

- 60 Edgar Dowell Householder, born 3 April 1925, Sevier Co. Tenn.
- 61 Evelyn Faye Householder, born 11 Aug. 1927, Sevier Co. Tenn. Miss Faye Householder was just beginning to teach reading, writing and arithmetic at DuPont Grammar School in Sevier County when a knock sounded at the classroom door. At 18 years of age she held a high school diploma from Harrison-Chilhowee Baptist Institute at Seymour. After her graduation last spring, special permission was granted for her to teach. Her modest means had prevented her dreams of attending college from coming true. She had worked long hours after classes in order to attend Harrison-Chilhowee Institute. Miss Householder's visitor was more welcome than a Prince Charming coming to rescue her from a cruel king. He was Hugh Trotter of Sevierville, who brought news that changed the course of the Seymour girls life. "Miss Householder", he said, "you have been selected by the Save-The-Children Foundation of New York for a four year college scholarship". The 18 year old school teacher couldn't believe her ears. She didn't even know she was a candidate for the scholarship. "Surprised?" she asked, "Why it was the best surprise that could come to anyone. I dismissed classes and ran all the way home to tell my folks".
